

Earth Day Eco Videos

Title	Start Time (approximate)	Summary
Earth Day 2011 Worksite Weekend	7:30 p.m.	A fast-paced, fun filled look at the top ten reasons why people volunteer for Earth Day service projects.
The Story of Stuff	7:40 p.m.	A 20-minute animation of the consumerist society and the life cycle of consumer goods, narrated by Anne Leonard.
Photographer Edward Burtynsky: the Landscape of Oil	8:01 p.m.	In stunning large-format photographs, Edward Burtynsky follows the path of oil through modern society, from wellhead to pipeline to car engine -- and then beyond to the projected peak-oil endgame.
Van Jones: The Economic Injustice of Plastic	8:05 p.m.	Van Jones lays out a case against plastic pollution from the perspective of social justice: plastic trash hits poor people and poor countries "first and worst," with consequences we all share no matter where we live and what we earn.
The Story of Bottled Water	8:18 p.m.	The film explores the bottled water industry's attacks on tap water and its use of seductive, environmental-themed advertising to cover up the mountains of plastic waste it produces. The film concludes with a call to take back the tap.
Sylvia Earle: Protecting Our Oceans	8:26 p.m.	Legendary ocean researcher Sylvia Earle shares astonishing images of the ocean -- and shocking stats about its rapid decline -- as she makes her TED Prize wish: that we will join her in protecting the vital blue heart of the planet.
The Story of Cap and Trade	8:44 p.m.	A fast-paced, fact-filled look at the leading climate solution discussed at Copenhagen and on Capitol Hill. Host Annie Leonard introduces the energy traders and Wall Street financiers at the heart of this scheme and reveals the "devils in the details."
Shai Agassi: A Bold Plan for Mass Adoption of Electric Cars:	8:54 p.m.	Forget about the hybrid auto -- Shai Agassi says it's electric cars or bust if we want to impact emissions. His company, Better Place, has a radical plan to take entire countries oil-free by 2020.
The Empathic Civilization	9:13 p.m.	Bestselling author, political adviser and social and ethical prophet Jeremy Rifkin investigates the evolution of empathy and the profound ways that it has shaped our development and our society.
How Pig Parts Make the World Go Round	9:24 p.m.	Christien Meindersma, author of "Pig 05049" looks at the astonishing afterlife of the ordinary pig, parts of which make their way into at least 185 non-pork products, from bullets to artificial hearts.
The Story of Citizens United	9:33 p.m.	The movie examines the disproportionate influence that corporations exercise in the American political system and was inspired by the disastrous 2010 U.S. Supreme Court decision that permitted corporations to spend freely to influence American elections.
Majora Carter: Greening the Ghetto	9:42 p.m.	In an emotionally charged talk, MacArthur-winning activist Majora Carter details her fight for environmental justice in the South Bronx -- and shows how minority neighborhoods suffer most from flawed urban policy.
